Hunters Who Enter Farm or Ranch Property Are Liable to Fines and Cancellation of Their Licenses

Four Amarillo men drew fines Sunday for shooting ducks on the College Farm lake north of Canyon on the highway. Game wardens caught the men.

Farmers report that hunters have been overrunning their places with the opening of the duck season. Cattle were shot and killed or badly injured during the hunting season last year, and as a result few farmers will allow hunters on their places.

The day before the duck season opened Wilson Campbell chased off a group of men from his land. The men were digging a blind near a lake without his consent. Such cases are subject to prosecution for trespassing. Farmers living in the southwest part of the county found blinds in their wheat fields this summer while cutting the wheat. Had a combine run into one of these blinds considerable damage could have resulted.

Hunters are again warned that they cannot enter upon the property of any land owner without getting his consent, or they are liable to prosecution. There is no longer a need for posting land against trespassing or hunting. If caught on the property of another with a gun or a fishing line the burden of proof is on the trespasser that he has the authority to be on the property. If he is a trespasser he is subject to a fine and the cancellation of his hunting license for one year.

While practically all of the trespassing is being done by hunters from Amarillo, this information is again given so that property owners may know their legal rights and be in position to protect their own property from trespassers.

Don't go on the property of others without permission, if you want to stay clear of the law.

C. M. Dowlen's Car Stolen Tuesday in Front of Home

The 1947 Pontiac of C. M. Dowlen was stolen Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock from in front of his home, 2110 Fourth Ave.

He had brought the car to town and had it serviced, installing a new battery and heater. He drove home, left the keys in the car as he intended leaving in a few minutes. When Mr. and Mrs. Dowlen returned the car was gone. A service station attendant stated that he saw some one drive away in the car, but thought it was Mr. Dowlen.

No trace of the missing car has been found. Dealers had offered $2,500 for the car only recently.

A reward has been posted for the return of the car.

The temperature at nights drop to freezing, but the days remain calm, with the mercury rising to around the middle 50's and 60's.

Wheat has made a wonderful recovery following the rains. Wheat pasture is becoming plentiful in all parts of the county.

Radios Are Taken From Two Autos Here Saturday Nite

Thieves made a raid on car radios this week, taking two from cars in Canyon.

Rev. A. B. Haynes and W. J. Wooten both had radios removed from their cars as they were parked at their homes. It was evident that both jobs were done by experts who knew how to remove the radios with the least damage to the cars or radios.

Equalization of School District Complete Friday

The Board of Equalization for the Canyon School District will meet Friday to hear any complaints regarding the recent tax renditions.

This is the first time that a board of equalization has sat for the new district and a large number of changes were made in taxable valuations.

In order to reach a standard value of property in the district, values as rendered to Randall county were used as a basis of assessment. Following the hearing Friday, Tax Collector Lee Foster will issue tax statements. The district is late this year in issuing tax statements, and it is likely that the discount period will be shorter than the law provides for county and state taxes.

Bufs Idle This Week, Preparing For N. M. Lobos

The Buffaloes have no game this week-end.

The team is spending the week in preparation for the hard game with the New Mexico University Lobos which will end the home schedule on November 27. The game will be played at Buffalo Stadium in the afternoon.

Throughout the session refreshments were served at the Snack bar. Alvin McDonald was a guest at this meeting.

200 Attend Legion Breakfast Thursday

The annual Armistice Day breakfast was held Thursday morning, November 11, at the Legion Hall. This year there were approximately 200 members and friends present.

For many years, the American Legion has held a breakfast on Armistice, until it is one of the oldest traditions of the Legion post here.

Hampton Lisle, post commander, was in charge of arrangements for the breakfast and he was assisted by other members of the legion post.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks visited Thursday in Borger with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hicks.

This annual report was compiled by the State Auditor and was sent to all who are interested in the Palo Duro State Park.

New City Well Is Good For 450 Gallons Minute

Canyon's new water well is complete and was under the test pump for a week. It has been accepted from the drillers.

The new well at 525 feet will produce about 450 gallons per minute. It is not quite as strong as the Munson well which was drilled by the city two years ago. However, it is adequate to take care of present needs.

The city is calling for bids on a new pump and motor for the new well.

Pipe from the new well to the city's water line has been bought, with delivery promised about the first of April.

With the completion of the new well the city water plant will be adequate to take care of the immediate future demands of Canyon, stated Mayor W. A. Warren Monday.

Carl Harrison, owner of the Harrison Hardware Co. in Memphis and president of the Panhandle Hardware and Implement Association, visited here Friday with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson.

Two Men Drew Pen Sentences

Two men drew penitentiary sentences in district court Saturday for six years each. They were Weldon T. Flowers and Carl Gadenheir, charged with theft of an automobile last summer. The car was taken to Abilene where it was recovered on a used car lot.

The two have criminal records, being under five year sentences from Lamesa. They are wanted in other counties, but so far the pair has not been called for by officers.

Judge Henry S. Bishop was here from Amarillo. Divorces were granted in several cases while court was in session.

W. S. Cain Dies In California

Word has been received here of the death of W. S. Cain, who was a resident of Canyon for many years, but had made his home in Long Beach, California for the past few years. He died on November 11, in Long Beach, California.

Mrs. Charles Harter, sister-in-law of Mr. Cain, and Wendell, Linette and Joy Cain left immediately for California. No other specific information about the death of Mr. Cain could be gained by the News staff at press time Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Erdman Is Honored Tuesday Night by Reception at the College Author Honored

Miss Loula Grace Erdman, noted novelist and English teacher of West Texas State, was honored Tuesday night at the Branding Iron Theatre of the Speech Arts building by a joint reception of the English and Speech Departments of the College.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Cranell Tolliver, Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Dr. James P. Cornette, Miss Erdman and her mother and sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wilson of Amarillo.

Visitors signed the guest book under the direction of little Miss Wilson, niece of Miss Erdman.

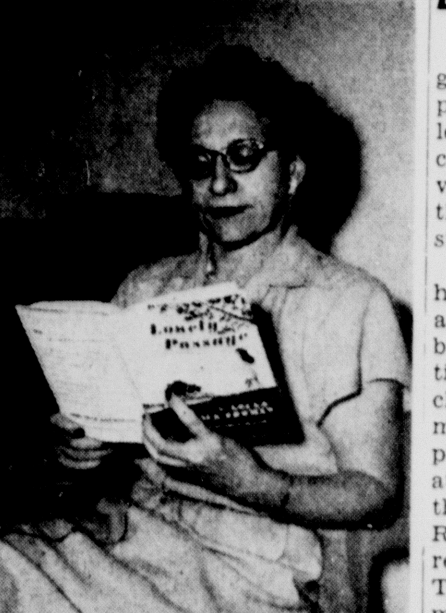

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. A. K. Knott, Mrs. Ethel Shaw, Mrs. Dan Sanders, Mrs. Wm. Moore, Miss Helen White Moore. Refreshments had been prepared by girls in the Home Economics department.

During the reception and tea, piano music was furnished by Misses Ellen Sanders and Ruth Ann Soll.

At 9:15 a 30-minute program was given for radio broadcast over KGNC under the direction of Dan O'Connor of the English Department. Dr. James P. Cornette paid tribute to Miss Erdman's work as a teacher. Dr. Fronabarger expressed the gratitude of the English department for the inspiration Miss Erdman had been to the students and fellow faculty members. Miss Erdman made a brief reply of thanks for the friendship which had been shown to her while working in the college.

The major part of the broadcast was devoted to the dramatization of key scenes from the recent novel of Miss Erdman, "Lonely Passage." Mr. O'Connor adapted the script for radio purposes and performed as narrator.

Students from the advanced acting class of Wm. A. Moore portrayed the character roles as follows: Thurlay by Frances Lynn Townes; Pemsby by Del Belflower; Mrs. Hatfield by Helen Jo Wilson; Sarah by Virginia

MISS LOULA GRACE ERDMAN... honored Tuesday by many friends throughout the Panhandle for her latest success, "Lonely Passage."

Hunter; Dr. Lindsey by Steve Self; Chris by Mr. Moore.

Decorations for the stage included a beautiful display of posters used as backdrops and illustrated from the jackets of four of Miss Erdman's books. A. G. Kieselbach of the Art Department made the posters.

Below the stage were two tables, one exhibiting galley proofs and publications of Miss Erdman's books and other numerous representative magazines and journals in which short stories and articles by Miss Erdman were published. The book display was furnished from the stock of Warwick's.

Attending the reception were more than 200 persons, including students, faculty members, and friends of Miss Erdman from over the Panhandle.

Farm Bureau of Texas Outlines Future Program

A united voice for agriculture was the theme of the annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation held at San Antonio last week. Questions of interest to all farmers were discussed and recommendations were made by the different county delegations. The program of the Texas Farm Bureau for 1949 will be made up from these recommendations. The program of the American Farm Bureau Federation on all questions of National interest to agriculture, is made up from the resolutions of the various State Farm Bureau units.

The Farm Bureau program at the Texas State level includes several recommendations made by the Randall county delegation. These include, among other things, a farm-to-markets road program on a State wide basis and underground water legislation by districts.

All county delegations at the State meet favored a program of work for conservation amendments to the National Farm Program.

Voting delegates from Randall county at the State Convention were: G. E. Wesley, A. E. Wise, E. W. Schaeffer, H. W. Burrus, H. L. Knox and W. H. Upchurch.

Plans Approved To Construct Baptist Pastorium

The First Baptist Church congregation has approved plans for a pastor's home, and contract will be let to Leonard Britt for immediate construction of an 8-room brick veneer residence to be erected on the corner of Third Avenue and 18th street, facing South.

For nearly five years the pastor has been housed in a six-room apartment in the church building, but steady growth of the congregation and the great increase in church-centered week-day activities made the space necessary for other purposes. Average Sunday School attendance at the church is twice that of eight years ago when Dr. Roy L. Johnson came as pastor, and recent growth in the Sunday night Training Union has almost filled the main floor of the auditorium for the Sunday night services.

Construction of the pastor's home is but another step in the plan of the church to improve its service to Canyon and Randall county.

Library Work Progressing Slowly

Work on the new county library is progressing more slowly than expected. It was hoped that the new library would be ready to be occupied by Thanksgiving, but library board members feel they will be lucky if the library is ready for occupancy by Christmas or the first of the year.

Decorating is almost complete, but the big job of moving shelves to the new library and building new ones to complete the building, still remains to be done.

Mrs. Alex Gray and son, Richard, of White Deer visited this week in the S. B. Louder home.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Truman Should Not Go To Moscow To Meet Stalin

We are of the opinion that every American citizen, without acception, wants to see peace in the world.

We are of the opinion that every American knows that Russia has traded us out of our shirts every time we have sent a delegation to Russian territory for a conference.

Stalin and his gang are heavy drinkers. When our diplomats go to Russia, they are wine and dine—it is the diplomatic practice, and one which our diplomats must follow, regardless of their opinions of liquor.

Stalin out traded Roosevelt; he out traded Truman in their first meeting. No wonder Stalin wants Truman to return to Moscow.

Russians claim that Stalin's health is such that he cannot fly, or take long trips. They desire a conference between Truman and Stalin, provided it is held in Moscow.

So far the President has made it clear that Washington is the logical place for peace talk. We hope that he stays with this decision.

So far all peace talks have broken down over one issue: Currency. Russia demands the right to control currency in Germany; that is, to manipulate German currency for the benefit of Moscow. When Russia is willing to agree upon a controlled currency, money which may not be manipulated at the will of Stalin, the world can have peace.

Germany is the big stake. Russia wants to control Germany, so she can gobble up the balance of Europe at will. We believe that our diplomats know the Russian mind well enough now that we will not be misled again into giving Russia all that she wants.

More Christmas Decorations Are Needed in Canyon Homes

Are you getting ready to decorate your home on Christmas?

Canyon always has attractively decorated business houses, but we have fallen down on residential decorations in recent years.

The lack of Christmas lighting has been the reason for the shortage of home decorations.

More lights are available this year, so every citizen can do some decorating. There is nothing more thrilling than to drive around Canyon and see the Christmas lights, provided nearly every home is well lighted.

To have a few well decorated homes at widely separated parts of town leaves the impression that few citizens are interested in making this a more beautiful town. The cost is small in comparison to the great pleasure that is spread among the citizens of the community.

Let's decorate Canyon better this year.

Court Overrules Antics of State Democratic Committee

A district court has ruled that the State Democratic convention held in Fort Worth was illegal in throwing out regularly elected delegates and seating those who agreed with the State Democratic Executive Committee.

A new State Committee was elected at the same time. Now the new committee has called a "love feast" conference.

This committee has probably realized that trying to weld the brass collar around the neck of every Democrat in Texas is a very, very foolish and useless idea.

Truman carried Texas in spite of the silly antics of the State Executive Committee; in spite of the Dixiecrats; in spite of the Wallace third party.

Just why then should these little leaders attempt to make people lie when they express their preference at the polls?

Dead Duck Sessions!

A legislative committee under the name of the Gilmer-Aiken committee, has recommended that schools be paid on the basis of average attendance, rather than head count of scholastics.

West Texas has been demanding this reform for years.

Now comes Lieut. Governor Allen Shivers from South Texas saying that this change would hurt the schools in his section. He asks for a special session of the legislature to be called in December to boost the $55 per capita allotment, and to pass the reform measure.

A new session of the legislature meets in January. We attended two sessions of "lame ducks" and have never seen any reforms come from such sessions.

Besides, just how is boosting the apportionment going to help schools where children do not attend school, such as in Mexican and Negro quarters?

Future of Armistice Day?

What will be the future of Armistice Day?

Many of the small towns of the Panhandle observed the day this year.

Big Amarillo had business as usual. Naturally that hurt business firms in every small town in this section.

Since Armistice Day is in recognition of an event 30 years ago, which did not bring peace to the world; and since we have fought a much larger war in the past 30 years, what will be the final outcome?

Since Decoration Day has been recognized as a tribute to all soldiers, Armistice Day may become a day of the past. Who knows—for sure?

Young Republicans are certainly squawking. And they have a right to squawk. The old guard has been in the saddle for 16 years, and the party has consistently been whipped at the polls. GOP is out in the cold for another four years, making twenty long years on the breadline for hungry politicians who need jobs. The little bait for the past two years while Congress was Republican was too much for the old guard. They had visions of a real feast under Dewey. But they over-sold the party to the people. Dewey strutted when he should have been talking straight. He paraded over the nation so that the people would get a glimpse of "your next president." Truman went about his business convinced that he had a fight on his hands, and thereby won the election. Taft and his group of Senate leaders will be replaced with a more aggressive group of GOP leaders.

The man most responsible for the election of Truman never made a speech or wrote a letter. He was Herbert Hoover, remembered by so many folks.

Never again will President Truman be called the coattail hanger on of FDR. He won in his own right.

Mrs. FDR Forgets Advice of Distinguished Spouse

Mrs. Roosevelt suggests that the Dixiecrats be read out of the Democratic party.

She fails to remember what her famous husband FDR, said in advocating that voters support the man and not the party.

At any rate Truman won in spite of opposition within the Democratic party; in spite of the Dixiecrats; in spite of the Wallace third party movement; in spite of the lack of Democratic support throughout the nation.

FDR won by Republican support. Without Republican support the President would have been defeated. GOP leaders played the rank and file of their party for a bunch of suckers who would follow the leader, regardless of the candidate which the leaders were cramming down their throats.

Mrs. Roosevelt should remember past history and realize that some time the Democratic party will need all of the Democratic strength.

After Hoover carried Texas and other Southern States, there was a move on to punish those who supported Hoover; and when there was a mild revolt against Roosevelt in Texas four years ago, there was an attempt to punish Texas Regulars; and now the same group will attempt to punish Dixiecrats and those who revolted against Truman.

Party loyalty is one thing; blindly supporting the party without reason is another thing. We have always agreed with the Roosevelt policy of putting men above parties, and cannot see how any sane Democrat can disagree with such a policy.

How Would You Improve Your Canyon News If Given Chance?

What improvements would you make in your Canyon News if you were the publisher?

Over at Wellington last week The News received criticism from the college department of journalism in a Texas College. Some of the so-called defects were legitimate; others were too general to be adopted.

One publisher said that he could produce a newspaper four times better than his present one—provided he had the time and money to carry out all of the improvements he wanted to make. This gives us an idea: Will YOU write a letter to The News telling us what you would like to have included in the paper which we are now overlooking?

We realize there are so many things happening in this old world which we cannot cover, and therefore we would like to improve the paper within our means. Canyon is not the size of Amarillo, Dallas, Chicago or New York, so make your suggestions in line with a town the size of Canyon. May we hear from you?

Aid To China—Political

Now comes the silliest suggestion of them all.

GOPers in Congress want a special session in order to rush through needed aid to the hard pressed federal army in China.

The Reds are whipping our friends over there. Taft and Co. would like to strut their stuff once more before being ousted in January. They have had their inning for two years, and have accomplished so little that the people ousted them at the polls.

The President knows full well what would happen to the proposed aid for China. He gave the Republicans a chance to show their good will to the nation after the presidential convention. They were too busy parading their "next president" to pass this legislation.

Taft would not be so happy today in a special session as he was in making "monkey faces" as Earl Warren talked seriously to the voters.

Children Need Your Support

People of Canyon are in the habit of supporting all projects which are community builders. This is right and just.

The Band Mothers are trying to raise money for new uniforms for the high school band.

Girl Scout workers are trying to raise funds to finish a meeting place for these girls. Every citizen of Canyon should back these two projects.

The money raised will be used by boys and girls living right here in Canyon—the boys and girls who will be men and women of this community tomorrow. Give a helpful hand.

The cabinet makers are busy drawing up plans for the next administration. Since Truman won the election almost single handed, in spite of his cabinet and in spite of his political associates in Congress, Truman will probably do his own thinking and planning for the future. There was no hip-hurrah at his first cabinet meeting after the election. He is said to have talked straight from the shoulder, telling cabinet members to get their programs ready for Congress, and plan to carry out the Democratic promises. The President made it clear that he considered the Democratic victory as a mandate for the Democrats to pass legislation which would follow Democratic promises. That is something new. Platforms and political promises of a heated campaign are usually cold stored as soon as the election is over.

Tax payers had as well make up their minds to high income taxes for many, many years to come. During the campaign they were led to believe that if Dewey were elected there would be a radical reduction in federal spending. Naturally we doubted this. The only thing that would have happened would have been that Democrats would have been replaced with Republicans on the federal pay roll. Now that the Democratic party is firmly entrenched, Truman has a mandate from the people to continue heavy federal spending, and this means higher taxes. There is no getting around this.

We are of the opinion that President Truman will attempt to bring harmony into the Democratic party so as to get his legislative program over, instead of following the foolish suggestion of seeking reprisal against all who do not see things his way. Truman was an army officer and knows that victory is won through co-operation in all branches of the service rather than display of one branch; and that football games are won when every man on the team cooperates in helping the star of the team.

Organized labor claims that it re-elected President Truman. It overlooks the fact that Truman carried the strictly farm belt, where there is little labor vote. The farmers of America are looking out after themselves. Since Dewey refused to meet issues squarely during the campaign, the farmers took it for granted that Dewey would sidestep them on sound farm legislation. The farmers had no other way to go than to vote for Truman; and they voted for him.

No, there is no mistake about it—just five more weeks until Christmas. Shop early!

Wildlife Threat Due Expansion Of Government

Once, it is reliably estimated, there were 75,000,000 buffalo in the Continental United States. Now only a few pitifully small herds are left.

Audobon, the great painter of the birds of America, saw literally billions of passenger pigeons, one of the most beautiful of game birds, during his travels. The last of them died years ago in a zoo, and the species is extinct.

As all hunters know, the population of ducks, pheasants, quail, and the remaining game birds has been decreasing dangerously. The result has been constantly shortened seasons and decreased bag limits.

Once the wildlife resources of a country are destroyed, it may be impossible to bring them back. At best, the process takes many years and enormous sums of money. And this is one phase of the government's electric power and land recovery program which needs far greater public understanding than it has so far received.

Some of the greatest streams in the country have been dammed by the government—at an unknown cost in fish. If the proponents of unlimited socialized power development have their way, hardly a watercourse of any size will remain as nature intended it. Again, the vast lakes created by government dams have flooded lands which were once used as resting and feeding areas by migratory game. And, of tremendous importance, the draining of marshes and similar lands has destroyed the nesting grounds of wild fowl—and thus cut deep into this irreplaceable living national resource.

The opposition of those who want to conserve wildlife against the indiscriminate development of land and water, at the expense of fish and fowl, is growing fast.

Republican leaders are expressing the opinion privately that they could have won with Earl Warren, Harold Stassen or Arthur Vandenberg at the head of their ticket. Labor leaders, who had much to do with defeat of Thomas E. Dewey, admit that Governor Warren might have won, but not Mr. Stassen or Senator Vandenberg.

The President used up all his savings in his campaign for election, and if defeated, would have left office next January 20 needing a job quickly in order to earn a living. He did not even consider what kind of job he might want outside the White House.

Many top-ranking experts in Government, with a record of aid in shaping New Deal programs, left the Government for jobs in business and in universities, expecting the GOP would take over. Now a lot of these experts wish they were back in Government.

SKILLFUL CLEANING SERVICE
CANYON, TEXAS

If "Number please?"
is sometimes delayed...

When you lift your telephone receiver, a light appears on the switchboard in front of several operators. Normally at least one of them can respond quickly. She picks up one of the cords in front of her and plugs it into the switchboard. This connects her with your telephone and she says, "Number, please?"

But nowadays the switchboard is temporarily crowded, serving many people who otherwise would not have service. Many more telephones are in use than ever before, and calling is at an all-time high. The switchboard at times is literally ablaze with lights—and if you should call during one of these busy times, it is possible that every one of the operators who could answer your call is busy. When that happens, a few extra seconds may elapse until you hear the familiar "Number, please?"

As soon as much-needed equipment can be obtained and installed, we'll be ready to handle your calls quicker and better than ever before. Meanwhile, if at times your call is not answered at once, you'll know that nimble fingers will reach it as soon as they possibly can. We appreciate your patience and understanding.

Band Parents Organization Is Open To All Friends of Canyon Band With Invitation To Assist Uniform Drive

In a report to the Canyon News on the organization and activities of the Band Parents Club, Mrs. Bryan McDonald, president, presented the following letter to the citizens of Randall County:

"Wouldn't you like to be a member of the Band Parents Club of Canyon Public Schools? In Article II of their Constitution it states:

Purpose: To promote the welfare of band work in the Canyon Public Schools.

By Laws: Article I, Section I, Membership: The membership shall be composed of parents and friends interested in the band. The friends shall be active or associate members as they desire.

Article III, Section I. The dues shall be one dollar per member. Now the idea is this: If we can interest you in becoming an associate member if you do not have the time to spend on the active work of the organization, thus, the finance of the organization will always be in good shape and without too much strain on anyone's pocketbook. We will always have enough funds on hand to aid the band in most anything it needs.

Once the band has its new uniforms, which will be the greatest expense for a long time, by our associate membership as well as with our active membership we will have ample means to buy that extra suit, horn, etc. that the band will need as it grows.

Be a part of that organization which every school has and needs, "The Band Parents Club."

The duties of the active membership are to attend the club meetings, serve on its committees and assist in anyway the band director or Superintendent of the school needs assistance. Some of the ways in which they will need assistance is in acting as chaperons for band trips, planning and assisting in the band's social life and in equipping the band in needs that private members do not care to buy such as bass horns and instruments never used as personal solo instruments. All of these are necessary for the making of a perfect band.

You can join the Band Parents Club at anytime—join today. Your name and your dues may be given or sent to any of the following members of the membership committee: Mrs. Worth Jennings, chairman; Mrs. Ray McReynolds; Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. W. J. Phelps, Mrs. Kermit Pond, Mrs. Gladys Dixon, and Mrs. Bryan McDonald. If you cannot contact any of these people, mail your dues and name to the chairman, Mrs. Worth Jennings.

Other officers and committees of the Band Parents Club include: President, Mrs. Bryan McDonald; secretary, James Cole; treasurer, Stacy Howell; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Dan Sanders; reporter, Mrs. Gladdis Samples.

Finance Committee: Mrs. C. O. Elkins, chairman, Mrs. Carl Hair, Mrs. Ross Craig, W. M. Thompson, Kermit Pond, and Charley Shelnutt.

Social committee: Worth Jennings, chairman; Rev. W. J. Phelps, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. Elwood Shero, Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Milton Myers, Mrs. Milton Myers, A. B. Holt, and Mr. Demus.

Traveling committee: Mrs. Gene Peppard, chairman, Mrs. W. N. Dickerson, Mrs. R. L. Glanton, Mrs. C. F. Rodgers, J. E. Miller and J. E. Mickey.

Faculty advisory committee: Herman Demus, director, and J. E. Miller.

Refreshment committee: Mrs. Stacey Howell, chairman, Mrs. Ed Bourn, Mrs. W. T. Reynolds and Mrs. J. E. Mickey.

Come on Randall county, let's have the best Band in our district! One of our most enthusiastic workers is a friend and not a parent of the band. I challenge each and every citizen of Randall county to follow suit.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. Bryan McDonald, Pres."

George F. Kennan, No. 1 brain-truster, and Charles E. Bohlen, Counselor of the Department of State, shapers of United States policy toward Russia, are not to be secure in their jobs with a change in the Secretary of State. The President is showing an inclination to favor a plan of direct conversations with the Russians.

One of the top men in Britain's Labor Government is privately expressing displeasure over the outcome of the American election. In a personal conversation the day after the election he remarked that there already had been six different shifts in U. S. policy on the future of Germany and now there would be another one.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, is the man to watch for any New Deal trends in Congress. He is the leading advocate of more controls over business and will head the Joint Economic Committee, which hitherto has been kept under wraps by Senator Taft.

Young Republican Senators who always have been irked at the Taft-Wherry leadership now may be more inclined to kick over the traces of party discipline on Republican policy.

Buffaloes Lost Armistic Day Battle 28 to 6

West Texas State put up a great battle at Abilene Thursday before bowing 28 to 6 to the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys in a Border Conference football game. One of the Cowboys' touchdowns was an outright gift while the other three had to be earned the hard way.

A crowd of 4,000 shivering fans saw the Buffaloes take the opening kickoff on their 34-yard line and march slowly but surely, on the ground to pay dirt. Lloyd Johnson, fullback from Wheeler, made the score from the one-yard line. Freeman Melton's try for extra point from placement was wide, a strong south wind making any ball in the air difficult to control.

The Cowboys came back in the second period and scored when their ace scabback, Wilton Davis, got loose for 36 yards and a touchdown. Paul Bailey added extra point, the first of four successive conversions for him Thursday afternoon.

Although Davis scored another touchdown in the third period, from the six-yard line, he was kept fairly well bottled up by an alert Buffalo defense. However, once when the Buffs shifted to meet him, Pat Bailey, half back, got loose for 21 yards and the Cowboys' third score near the end of the third period. The Cowboys scored their final touchdown when the Buffs tried to pass out from their four-yard line. Loan Harvey intercepted a wobbly heave executed under extreme difficulties. He had only to trot 20 yards to pay dirt.

The Buffaloes were minus the services of three regulars, Eddie Conner, half back; Pete Bromley, guard; Wayne Hill, tackle, and one reserve, Jimmie Draper.

Which would YOU choose for comfort?

For most people, an easy chair doesn't give half as much comfort as an easy mind... the happy sense that your future is reasonably safe from financial worries.

And, generally, the simplest way to give yourself this mental comfort is to start a regular, automatic savings program with U. S. Savings Bonds.

It takes so little effort. You can sign up through your firm's Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're not on a payroll, through your bank's Bond-A-Month Plan.

It gives you so much! In 10 years you get back four dollars for every three you put in. But, even more important, you have a comfortable feeling all the time, knowing you've done something to protect your future.

GARY THURMAN HONORED ON SIXTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. T. M. Thurman honored her son Gary, with a birthday party Tuesday afternoon, November 16 on his sixth birthday. She was assisted by Gary's sister, Leavena Davis.

Birthday cake and hot chocolate were served to the little guests, Donna and Duke Jennings, Judy Roberts, Patsy Morgan, Mike Hickman, Carol Ann Glazener and Monya and Gary Thurman.

The Nation's resources will have to be used more efficiently in any future war than they were in World War II, according to top defense planning officials. Among the problems they are now tackling with the co-operation of big industrialists are these: (1) greatest possible standardization in shortest possible time to shave costs, speed production, conserve manpower and space; (2) industry-tested and cost-accounting procedures, a great novelty in Government departments; (3) changes in the Congressional appropriation system, making prior proof of need a routine part of applying for funds.

Senator J. Howard McGrath emerges as a power in Washington as a result of the election. Senator McGrath heads the Democratic National Committee, and now will dispense party patronage that had been blocked for many months by a republican majority in Congress. The Rhode Island Senator intends to remain a member of Congress and not to ask for any of many jobs he could have on the administrative side.

Paul G. Hoffman, Administrator of the Economic Co-operation Administration, is taking a more positive role in the shaping of U. S. foreign policy in Western Europe, while Roger D. Lapham, head of the ECA mission to China, is trying to influence U. S. policy in that country. Career men in the State Department are not altogether happy over these developments.

Joseph Stalin joined the forecasters of the President's own party, the newspaper poll takers and almost all other polls and experts in miffing the election outcome in U. S. Russia's officials were caught flat-footed and took time out in diplomatic maneuvering to figure out their next move.

Retailers expect their biggest Christmas season this year and they aren't holding their optimism in check by assuming it's the last of the bonanza era. People have money, everybody's working and there's an ever-better selection of refrigerators, television sets, shirts and toys. One large supplier of merchandise to Chicago department and mail order stores reports his holiday business up 42% over last year.

Freight cars on the rails today are fewer by 38,000 than on VJ-Day, due to scrapping of old cars. Car builders say they're afraid they will run out of orders, but railroad men ridicule this idea, point out that car builders already are 109,000 orders behind demand, that new orders are piling up in a steady stream.

A surplus of lower grade lumber is building up on the West Coast. Reason: It's heavier than better grades, costs more to ship by rail. Lumber production this year will hit 40 billion board feet—5% more than in 1947.

Reports from many industries that supplies are catching up with demand do not apply to steel. Gray market activity still is not great as to volume, but undoubtedly is livelier pricewise than six months ago. Gray market plate, formerly $135 a ton, now commands $185 or more.

Henry Wallace is thinking of an end to his honeymoon with the Communists. Only question is whether Mr. Wallace breaks with the Communists before they break with him. The Wallace party flopped too completely to interest Moscow further.

By all accounts, the Marshall Plan is succeeding, and too much credit can't be given Europeans for letting themselves be talked into taking the stuff.

MRS. HAYNES ENTERTAINS BUSINESS CIRCLE

The Business and Professional Women's Circle of the Presbyterian Church met Tuesday evening, November 16 in the home of Mrs. A. B. Haynes, Sr. Mrs. Haynes served the group supper, which was followed by a devotional given by Mrs. Joe Black.

During the program hour, Mrs. Mary Sliger gave an interesting talk on the "Early Church." The business meeting followed.

Those present were Mrs. James Cole, Miss Mae Simmons, Mrs. Ethel Shaw, Mrs. Berl Mayfield, Mrs. Joe Black, Mrs. Mary Sliger, Mrs. Roscoe Davis, Mrs. Katherine Kunze, and Mrs. Bob Parsons.

CUB PACK 31 MEETS FRIDAY EVENING

Cub Pack No. 31 will meet Friday evening, November 19, at 7 o'clock, in the Methodist Church. This month the Cub Scouts have been working on the theme, "Parade of Achievements," and will give demonstrations on how to work from the rank of Bob Cat through the Bear rank, and extra achievements that may be selected in advancing from one rank to the other.

All cubs and their parents, committee members, Den Chiefs, and Den mothers and dads are urged to be present at this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schultz and children visited Armistice Day in Dumas with Mr. Henderson's brothers, Clyde and Milton Henderson.

Miss Carolyn Wimberly, who is teaching this year in Plainview, was home on Armistice Day in her parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimberly.

Miss Helen Taylor spent the Armistice holiday with her family in Friona.

Business sentiment, rocked back on its heels by the election, turned cheerful in spots. Some executives, including President Morris Pendleton of Plomb Tool Co. and President John S. Coleman of Burroughs Adding Machine Co. suggest persuasively: (1) The nation's economic health is good; (2) business can't help but forge ahead in view of high employment, high income and a $45 billion budget; (3) executives who plan for stagnation during the next four years will be making a mistake.

Fourth-round wage demands will almost certainly follow the uptrend in living costs. But some forecasters (who went 100% wrong about the election) are sticking their necks out again with this one: Beef prices and food costs generally will follow pork prices down next spring, and labor's demands will not win public sympathy.

Dr. Louis J. Paradiso, highly rated ex-head of Commerce Department's business statistics section, says the poll-takers owe it to the public, businessmen, and the statistical profession to disclose size of their samples, sampling errors they may have made, and other technical data.

Shoe plants have 25% more capacity than they need for today's rate of production. Prices are softening at wholesale levels, but not enough to affect retail prices yet.

Middle Classes of World Making
Greatest Gains

The radicals' classic complaint against capitalism is that it tends to concentrate the wealth and income of the nation in the hands of a relative few, at the expense of the many.

That ancient cliché is still in use. Yet the truth is that just the opposite has occurred. The greatest gains in late years have been made by people in the lower and the middle-income groups. As an example, in 1941 there were 4,139,000 families in the $3,000-$5,000 bracket—last year there were more than 13,000,000. And, in 1941, only about 1,500,000 families had incomes over $5,000, while last year the total reached almost 7,000,000.

Last summer a survey was made to find out what classifications of people were better or worse off than in 1930, after making allowance for changes in taxes and living costs. Such representative labor groups as coal miners, railway workers, etc., were all better off, and by a wide margin. But typical groups of executives, and stock and bondholders were worse off.

No economic system in history has done as much as our free enterprise capitalism for the so-called common man. The radicals are trying to hide that fact.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hodges and boys, Jimmie and Bobbie, were Canyon visitors Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hodges.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Boyce went to Midland Sunday to see their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Boyce, Jr.

Mrs. Bryan McDonald left Saturday for Houston where she will be with her mother, Mrs. C. E. Davidson, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Utz and daughters of Amarillo visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Odom.

Despite the election upset you can definitely expect snow in certain parts of the nation between now and inauguration day.

Democrats proclaim their victory as a people's mandate for "adequate" housing. Sen. Ellender (D-La.), already working on the measure, predicts it will get "priority consideration" from Congress and is soliciting support from both parties. It calls for 500,000 low-rent housing units in five years, loans and subsidies for 250,000 to 300,000 farmhouses a year and $1.5 billion in repayable loans and subsidies for slum clearances.

1949 new model cars will cost more because costs of tooling for changeovers are far in excess of pre-war and because any substantial increase in production is barred by national defense requirements and continued diversion of scarce materials to the European Recovery Program.

You'll want the proper announcements or cards for it. You'll want them worded correctly, printed perfectly, on fine quality paper stock. We're ready with the answers to your questions, the experience, and the equipment to serve you well.

Pie-Full Eye-Full

Six-year-old Richard Baranski caresses his full stomach after being crowned pie-eating champ in New York City. Having polished off a 10-inch cranberry pie in 15 seconds flat, that stack of pies at left doesn't look too inviting. The contest was held by youngsters of the Madison Settlement House.

George Marshall, Secretary of State, may be asked by Mr. Truman to continue in office until some kind of agreement on Europe is worked out with Russia. In the event that Secretary Marshall asks definitely to retire, Fred Vinson, Chief Justice of U. S. Supreme Court, is on the top of the list of those to be asked to take the job.

James Forrestal, Secretary of Defense, definitely is to be replaced, on the basis of word from White House aides. Robert Lovett, Under Secretary of State, likewise is to be permitted to retire. Others from among New York bankers, on the basis of word from the White House group, are to be missing from the next Truman Administration.

President Truman, elected in his own right, is determined to be boss of his own Cabinet in a new term. Some high officers who had developed a habit of operating on their own, sometimes ignoring White House wishes, are to be replaced.

Next wave of strikes in France may hit steel and textiles. Communist finances, exhausted by the strike in coal, are being replenished by a new loan from a French bank that handles Soviet finances in France. The loan did not come in time to bolster the Communist-run coal strike.

Spain's Generalissimo Franco is very unhappy over his inability to get steel from U. S. to use in building ships for President Peron of Argentina. Ships had been promised in return for foodstuffs. Result is to put a crimp in both the Franco and the Peron plans.

Economic advisers to Mr. Truman are telling him that business suffered a shock in the election and should not be disturbed too soon by sudden White House moves for taxes and controls that business does not like.

SHORT STORY

The Man For The Part

By STEPHEN CORBETT

I KNEW the moment that I saw him that he was the type. Just the man for the part of Steve the old hillbilly in the second act.

As he trudged the street toward me I noted with satisfaction his matted grey whiskers, long, untrimmed hair, and the look of defiant misery in his eyes. He was the part to the life.

The part had given me considerable difficulty in filling. You see the whole plot revolves around this Steve although he appears but a few minutes in the second act. Steve must be a very real person or the point of the play is lost. I'd turned down dozens of applicants, even Tommy Kingston, the best character man of them all. "I hated to refuse Kingston, on account of past associations. Besides he needed the work. But this last bit of casting was very important to the success of what I believed to be a sure-fire hit. Kingston had argued that the judicious use of make-up would supply me with a Steve that even the author would recognize. But I'd told him I was too old a hand not to know the limitations of grease paint. My man must be true to life.

I was sure I'd found him. When the old man was a few paces from me I said: "Pardon me, but would you like to earn some money?" He stopped and stared at me in amazement. For a moment he couldn't speak, then words tumbled from his lips in desperate, guttural tones.

"Yes," he said, "I want money. Work, any kind of work so long as it is honest. I'm strong, sir. I do not tire easily and if there—"

"This will require no muscular exertion," I interrupted. "I want you for a play I'm producing."

"A play?" he repeated, puzzled. "I believe you're just the man for one of the parts. My office is nearby. If you'll come with me I'll try you out."

He seemed nervous when we entered my office. I suppose his realization that the hopeless search for work might be over made him tremble that way. Reaction, psychologists term it. When he was seated in the big arm chair opposite my desk I gave him a drink, a rare concession. He gulped it down.

I THUMBED through the script and showed him the part he was to read. I'd expected to hear him go through it once, then to show him how to put more into it. But I found myself on the edge of my chair watching him intently. The man was living Steve, getting the utmost out of every phrase, giving each word its proper value.

He was just the type for the part of the old hillbilly.

He finished reading and turned to me anxiously: "Did I—do all right?"

"All right? Man you were perfect. The part is yours," and I meant it.

The occasion called for a celebration. After weeks of searching hotels, park benches and flop houses I'd found Steve. We drank to his success.

There were contract forms handy on my desk. I filled in a few spaces till I came to "salary." "The part pays $100 a week," I told him. "Please sign here."

He hesitated. Was this old fellow, half-starved, jobless, going to be difficult? He said, "It is this way. This acting I do better than anyone else?"

I nodded impatiently. "Then should I not get more than you would ordinarily pay?"

I was getting sore even though there was a kind of logic to his argument. "Good heavens, man, this is just a bit part. A hundred dollars is high pay for such."

He remained obstinate. Maintaining that an artist such as he should receive more than a lesser person. I regretted now the brandy I'd given him. Taken on an empty stomach it had undoubtedly gone to his head. He agreed to accept $150. He signed and it occurred to me for the first time that I didn't know his name. I picked up his contract. Then I reached for the brandy bottle. I really needed it this time for the signature written in a familiar, round hand was "Thomas Kingston."

SHORT STORY

The Lucky Prize

By MARION WALLS

FRED slapped the water from his hat, carefully removed his rubbers before stepping inside on the immaculate floor. It was good to be home, to be facing a relaxed evening while the storm lashed the outside world.

"Allie?" he called. The muffled reply sounded like: "where else would I be, but in the kitchen?"

Pushing open the door, Fred sniffed appreciatively and kissed his wife. "Apple pie! Hmmm. The boys home yet?" he inquired, glancing at the headlines.

"Ralph is. But Jack won't be home—they're having some kind of banquet at school."

Allie observed: "It's too bad they have such a bad night for the bingo party."

"Hmmm. . . . The pie smelled delicious. . . . Apprehension gripped him. "What bingo party?"

Ralph barged in and his mother gave the boy an amused glance. "Your father has the queerest memory. If it were a wrestling match or a ball game—" Looking at Fred: "The bingo party I bought the tickets for last Monday. We have to go tonight."

He hedged. "Why do we have to go? You bought the tickets, that was the main thing they were interested in."

"But I like to play!" she insisted. "They have the grandest prizes—and you know how lucky I am!"

Thinking of the warmth, the unread magazines, Fred reflected unhappily that Allie might be lucky, but he most certainly was not.

For Fred it was a particularly dull evening. He got no pleasure at all from pushing little wooden squares around on a piece of cardboard, and certainly no material gain came his way. Empty-handed, after two hours of tiresome effort, he looked across the room to find Allie triumphantly gathering up a set of glass ash trays and a string of plastic measuring spoons.

"I told you I was lucky!" she crowed, ignoring Mrs. Deerfield who was struggling past her with a set of glass crystal boudoir lamps.

ALLIE chattered happily all the way home; the rain had stopped and a half moon was struggling to come through the clouds. "Of course, we had plenty of ash trays, but they'll save me the expense of buying something the next time I entertain the club."

As they rolled into the drive Fred saw people standing on their porch. "Gosh—Allie—look! Do you suppose there's been a fire?" He slammed on the brakes.

"Oh, Mrs. Jemison!" That was Mrs. Haggerty who lived next door. "Oh—if you'd been home!"

Thomas Dewey, as Governor of New York, is to discover a coalition in his Legislature that may make uncomfortable his final two years in office. Democrats made substantial gains in the New York Legislature.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney is to take the lead in handling business control legislation for the White House in the next session of Congress. Senator O'Mahoney is not favoring rigid control prices or rigid allocation of material. He wants corporations in basic industries to file publicly their price lists and reasons for prices asked before making new increases.

Senator Walter George, who will have more to say about tax revision than any other member of Congress, is opposed to revival of an excess-profits tax. It remains far from certain that the White House will battle hard to force a tax on "excess" profits.

U. S. Navy officials are intimating that a defense has been perfected against the new Snorkel or "guppy" type of submarine originated by the Germans and now being built by the Russians. Without such a defense, as recent maneuvers showed, 200 of the new-type submarines could drive the U. S. merchant marine from the seas.

The President is letting it be known this early that he is not to seek re-election in 1952. Chief Justice Vinson, who will be 62 in 1952, is the man Mr. Truman would most like to see develop into a successor.

Apprehension gripped him.

"What happened?? Is it the—is it the boys?" began Allie fearfully.

"It's the phone! The Lucky Number program! They called your number and if you'd been home they were going to give you a thousand dollars! I beat on your door, thinking maybe you didn't hear—"

"No," said Allie, slowly. "We weren't at home tonight."

With head high, she marched past into the house.

Fred put away the car. A thousand dollars, just for staying at home, being comfortable! Going in the house, he didn't bother to wipe his feet. Allie was in the living room, the prizes nowhere in sight.

"Luck always hits twice," she said loudly. "Even lightning hits twice in the same place sometimes. Why, some people say what happens once will happen three times. . . you can't tell, can you, Fred?"

"Nope," he grunted, easing out of his shoes.

Allie leaned forward eagerly. "We'll stay home every night—maybe they'll call again—they could do it, couldn't they, Fred?"

He thought of the happy evenings at home which now confronted him. "Why sure they could!" he agreed heartily. Again: "Sure it could happen again!"

He reached for a magazine, leaned back. He didn't know when a thousand dollars he hadn't gotten had ever bought as much.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The regular service of Morning Prayer will be held at All Saints' Episcopal Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Philip Murray, CIO head, and William Green, AFL president, are to be surprised that President Truman does not credit them with assuring his election. Both helped, but organized labor put its emphasis upon congressional elections, not on the election of Mr. Truman. That fact is to have importance in the period ahead.

Thomas Dewey, as Governor of New York, is to discover a coalition in his Legislature that may make uncomfortable his final two years in office. Democrats made substantial gains in the New York Legislature.

GRATITUDE is one of the most beautiful of virtues, and ingratitude one of the most baneful of vices. If children are under obligation to give thanks to human parents... how much more are ALL under obligation to give thanks to GOD! We owe it to HIM; we owe it to our fellows; we owe it to ourselves.

WE owe GOD thanks for all things... for the beautiful season called THANKSGIVING. Moreover, "HE GIVETH US ALL THINGS RICHLY TO ENJOY." Each moment, hour, day adds to our obligation. It is still true that His mercies "are new every morning." Gratitude to Him should find expression in THANKS-GIVING and THANKS-LIVING.

WE owe thankfulness to our fellows. Gratitude is contagious and bears gladness, strength, enrichment. Unconsciously each gives blessing or bane to others. Decency demands that each avoid giving hurt and strive diligently to give help.

WE owe it to ourselves to give thanks. Gratitude may find expression in attitude, utterance, and activity. We are ourselves beneficiaries of habitual thankfulness, or victims of thanklessness. We have abundant occasion for thanksgiving. We should join the chorus and, "PRAISE GOD FROM WHOM ALL BLESSINGS FLOW." Go to your church on Sunday.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. State-men today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, may be asked to succeed Mr. Forrestal as Secretary of Defense. Mr. Vinson is the ranking Democrat on the House Armed Services Committee and an advocate of a big Navy.

Young Mother: "What makes you think your boy is going to be a politician?"

Young Father: "He says more things that sound well and mean nothing than any other human being I ever saw."

BOYCE HOUSE
"Gives You Texas"

When I was a boy in Memphis, Tenn., I met Capt. Dabney M. Scales, a hero of the Confederate navy.

Not long ago, interesting details of his service were encountered in an old book.

Captain Scales was attending the United States Naval Academy when the Civil War broke out. He resigned and became the youngest officer in the navy of the Confederacy. He served on the famous raider, the Shenandoah, which cruised the seven seas, seeking Union vessels. One day, south of Australia, they over-took a ship which was flying the British flag but they thought this was a ruse. The vessel was hailed and proved to be British—and then the Confederates learned an amazing thing. The war was over and had been for eight months.

Because a federal court held that the activities of the Shenandoah were in violation of the law—though actually its officers and crew were merely waging war, though of a daring nature—Captain Scales lived in Mexico for two years.

Then he returned to Tennessee and practiced law. In the War with Spain, he volunteered and was navigating officer on a ship.

He was an old man with snow-white hair and mustache when this columnist, then a schoolboy, knew him. He never mentioned anything about his service in two wars. Just an old book, out of print, tells a little about his career.

Herbert Hoover's plan for reorganizing the Federal Government, when it is completed and reported to Congress, is to get sympathetic consideration from both the White House and Congress. Mr. Truman is interested in streamlining the Government organization, which is to be called on to administer more and more functions.

It was spring in the country. "How's the sentiment out here?" asked a visiting politician.

"Still going strong," answered a farmer. "There were eight cars parked in my lane last night."—John T. Sinsapough.

How's our railroad doing, young man?

"Is it making any money?"
"What are they paying for fuel these days?"
"Are you hauling much freight?"
"Do you like your job?"

The little old lady is not a busybody—she is merely looking after one of her investments.

She has some money in the Santa Fe. Maybe it's ten, maybe it's twenty, maybe it's fifty shares of Santa Fe stock.

She is entitled to attend a stockholders' meeting. She can get on her feet and ask our board of directors questions just like the above. She can compliment those gentlemen for their management, or she can bang her umbrella on the table and tell them off.

Alone, her few shares of stock can't do a lot. Alone, she couldn't elect a president of the United States. But stockholders just like her—housewives, teachers, merchants, salesmen, laborers—can tell us how to run the Santa Fe, and they do. (Actually 29,178 Santa Fe stockholders are women, most of them holding only a small number of shares each.)

And that's the beauty of America—the voice of the people is the voice that runs things, whether it's operating a transcontinental railroad or putting a man in the White House.

Isn't it a wonderful country where so many can own so much? That's "Free Enterprise."

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Wise Coach

One Out of 100 Homes Will Have Fire in a Year

This year, according to the president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, fire will enter one out of at least 100 American homes. In those homes, it will kill thousands of people, at least 2,400 of them children. And it will leave a ghastly toll of ruin and waste behind it.

If you happen to be one of the lucky ones whose home escapes fire, you may think it's no problem of yours. You'll be dead wrong. The burden of paying for fire falls on all of us. A fire which destroys a great forest or a producing factory makes every American poorer, in loss of taxes, jobs, purchasing power, and national resources. Fire is the enemy of employment, production, and a high standard of living for the people.

Every American, as a result, has a direct and personal interest in fire prevention. His life and his home and his business are at stake. And so, going beyond purely personal considerations, is the economic health and prosperity of the community and the country. The billions that go up in smoke and flame are lost to us forever—and so are the lives of those who are burned to death.

Soon we will be in a new year. It can be a year in which loss of life and property by fire is cut to a fraction of past totals. Or it can be a year in which, because of our carelessness and indifference, destruction rages on. It is up to us to make the choice.

Farmers Asked To Help In Scrap Iron Drive

The Nation's steel production goal for this year depends on the farmers' cooperation to help in the scrap iron drive. Farmers are urged by the Extension Service to cooperate.

"One-quarter of the raw material going into steel and one-third of the raw materials going into castings are purchased scrap; part of which is furnished by the farmer," the Department of Commerce reports.

Every ton of iron and steel scrap the farmer sells when combined with other materials will produce between three and four tons of new steel—the weight of an average farm truck.

Scrap collected on farms is considered particularly desirable as much of it is of heavy cast iron which is scarcer than steel scrap. Farmers play an important part in supplying raw materials for the steel mills and foundries as they furnish approximately two million tons of scrap a year.

Farmers are not expected to donate scrap, but should make it available, through normal trade channels, by taking it to an established dealer or by arranging to have a dealer call for it.

THAT OLD QUESTION

Little Johnny came home from school one afternoon and asked, "Mama, where did I come from?"

His mother was shocked. Johnny was awfully young to be hearing about the facts of life. But she knew the children at school had been talking. Now was the time.

"Sit down, son," she said. "I want to tell you a story about the birds and the bees. . . ." She proceeded to describe the facts of life to little Johnny.

When she had finished Johnny remarked, "Well, I just wondered where I came from. Suzie Smith told me she came from St. Louis."

Bachelor Professor Searches for Answers To Family Problems

CHICAGO—A little, white-haired man with a slow, steady smile and a needle-point memory has the answers to a problem which began when Eve insisted Adam share the forbidden fruit.

The man is Dr. Ernest Burgess,
University of Chicago sociologist, expert on marriage and family relations.

The kindly professor has no wife.
For seven years he has worked to untangle the kinks in more than 500 marriages, discovering what made them happy combinations or washouts.

The study convinced Dr. Burgess that "stability is the thing that counts in a happy marriage."

But, still curious, the professor began a new study. His current research will tabulate the lives and sentiments of 700 couples.

Already the energetic researcher has learned that couples who let time heal insight blinded by impet-uous love are happier than couples who fall in love at first sight and elope at second.

Advising a two-year engagement period as a sure bet, Dr. Burgess said his study proved that:

"Couples who solve personal adjustments before the ceremony have less to fret about after the knot is tied."

From his subject couples he found that chemical engineers have the most highly developed stability and adjustability. The study proved a chemical engineer offered the best chance of success in marriage.
He listed as a second choice a minister, then a college professor, an athletic coach, a student, high school teacher, accountant or office worker.

On the other side, Professor Burgess lists a laborer as a dangerous risk. Just a little better are traveling salesmen. Moving up the ladder toward the happy unions are mechanics, carpenters, plumbers, musicians, barbers or railroad workers.

Lucky Motorist Gets Free Roller Coaster Ride in Car

SHELBYVILLE, IND. — Jeffery Pfaff was driving on a four-lane highway when the steering column broke. He was thrown against the dashboard.

The sudden stopping of the car threw a big bucket against his head, nearly knocking him unconscious.

About that time he felt a hard jolt. Finally getting the car stopped he found he was headed the wrong way on the left lane, the left side of his car badly dented. Another automobile, some distance down the highway was wrapped around a tree.

Pfaff's car had sideswiped it,
causing it to crash.

The happy ending: No one was injured.

Department of Labor Cites Advantages of Older Workers

WASHINGTON—A survey by the department of labor indicates that men and women workers in the 45-or-older age group offer "distinct advantages" to employers over younger workers.

The survey, made public by the department's bureau of labor statistics, is a six month study of the work records of about 18,000 workers of all ages, including 1,300 women.

The summary, according to the BLS, showed that:

"Not only may the worker in the 45-and-over age group offer more highly developed skills, more mature judgment and more settled work habits as against the stamina and agility of youth, but he is frequently less likely to be absent and is less prone to injury than the younger worker."

The survey showed that the younger worker has an advantage over the older one in this respect, however: Although the younger worker is injured more often, the older worker, when hurt, takes longer to recover.

Workers not yet 20 had the highest absentee rate—an average 5.8 days out of 100 work days. The absentee rate for the 45-year age group was 3.4 out of 100.

Englishman Walks Across the River Thames in 17 Minutes

LONDON—Joe Simms walked across the River Thames—in the water. That is, he walked in the water, not on it.

Simms, a 51-year-old railway checker at Southampton docks, was demonstrating what he claims to be a new method of progressing through water developed after 18 years of research.

Simms entered the river wearing a pair of bathing trunks and an old tweed cap. With his arms folded and his hands on his shoulders he took 17 minutes to cross the river using "slow cycle action."
Two or three times he waded to crowds on a bridge and once took off his cap.

Newspapermen who followed him in a boat said he seemed to be erect the whole time.

Arriving on the other side he said, "That is something the Yanks can't do."

Ludwig II was called the Mad
King of Bavaria.

SHORT STORY

There's a Light Somewhere

By

M. CHRISTOPHER

HAL Miers took his time walking from the house to the stable.
There was a light wind ruffling his hair. The air smelled clean, coming up from the river. He could feel the warm sun, feel it burn because during these long months of absence he had grown unaccustomed to it.

He reached the end of the path
and felt for the corner fence post.
Proudly he grasped it. It was like a door opening to a light. I've come this far, the rest should be easy, he thought.

He sought for the edge of the stable; the wide door pushed open.
He figured that the hinges hadn't been oiled since he had oiled them himself months ago.

That was just before he had taken off on that crucial flight and crashed into a mountain. It had taken two lives; and almost his, too. It took his night but left his memories.

He heard the horse, Michael! The horse remembered him. "Michael!"
he whispered tensely.

The horse whinnied. Hal felt the nose touch his outstretched hand.

"You ol' pal! How you been, huh?"

How you been?
Hal sniffed appreciatively. He liked the smell of a horse. He should, for he had practically grown up with it.

"I'll never ride you again, Mike, ol' boy," he said softly. "I'd probably break my neck. That's what the doc said. That would be foolish, wouldn't it? I'd be a dead duck and not able to touch, smell or hear you." The horse whinnied again and Hal choked. He hadn't realized how much that had meant!

AT THE hospital, with the gauze on his eyes, he had thought of the wonderful days when he used to ride Michael across the meadow and leap the fence. Hal's father had purchased Michael as a colt for racing.
Right from the first Michael had won. But a horse gets older. He must quit. Hal had made Michael quit, but he hadn't quit keeping him and loving him. And riding him, too—until now.

He fumbled out of the stable and with groping steps started walking back to the house.

"Hal, wait a minute." It was his father. "I was wondering when it would hit you like this, son. I know how I'd feel."

"That's all right, Dad," Hal said. "Guess I'm just a kid at heart."

His father chuckled. "It'll pass.
Everything does."

Hal fell asleep late and in the morning sat disconsolately in the living room.

"It's nice outside, son," his father said, quietly. "Why don't you get some sun. You need it on that skin."

Outside he could not feel any wind, but he could smell the stable. He

He could not feel any wind but he could hear the twitter of sparrows, the faint sound of the river. And he found his way back to the stable and old Michael.

"You're coming with me, ol' boy!" Hal said.

He groped for the saddle. Could saddle you blindfolded, he used to say. Now to prove it.

He led the horse outside. The fear began to grip him tighter now. He swung himself upon the horse.
"Steady, boy!" he whispered.
"Steady!"

"Okay, Mike. Let's go. But easy, as first. Let me get the feel of it. Just around the meadow, boy."

The horse started off. Hal felt the graceful move of his body and coordinated his own movements with it. Gradually, Hal made him go faster, each time clinging tighter to the reins in his hands. The wind whipped against his face, and a couple of times he felt himself sway off to one side as Michael plunged to make a turn, his hooves thumping against the hard ground. But he always righted himself and stayed on. Hal laughed against the wind, laughed loudly. In the sheer joy of riding once again, at the same time prodding Michael to a faster and faster pace.

Presently, a voice shouted through the whistling darkness at him.
"Son! For Heaven's sakes, what're you doing? Stop...!"

Hal laughed the louder. "I'm riding, Dad!" he shouted back. "Riding! Can't you see?"

Socialism Seen In England Is Very Expensive

The New York Times recently carried a dispatch from London which has a deep significance. It said, at the beginning: "Great Britain has undertaken to curtail expenditures on social improvement and betterment projects and when such outlays interfere with her ability to become independent of dollar aid. By this decision Britain has demonstrated in a concrete way, for the first time, that she recognizes that her need to pay her way internationally must take precedence, if necessary, over some of the Socialist Party's favorite programs."

Implicit in this is the fact that socialism, no matter how honestly administered and well intentioned, is essentially non-productive, and simply tends to create more and more deficits even as it saps the vitality of a nation. Britain has socialized or is planning to socialize all her basic industrial resources—the utilities, banking, railroads, coal, and so on. At the same time, she has come pretty close to socializing labor too—workers in vital industry are no longer free agents, and can change employment only by government permit. The result has been a decline in production in many cases, a failure to reach announced goals in other cases, and widespread dissatisfaction on the part of labor which was promised benefits it has not received and which, in instance after instance, is much worse off than in the days of private enterprise.

The European Bureau of the American Federation of Labor has published, in its newsletter, a very interesting critique of British industry. Both management and labor, according to this finding, have braked production through restrictive practices. As an example, the policy has been to reduce worker output to the level of the least efficient performer. And that, too, is a major barrier to Britain's solvency, and to raising the present low living standards of her people.

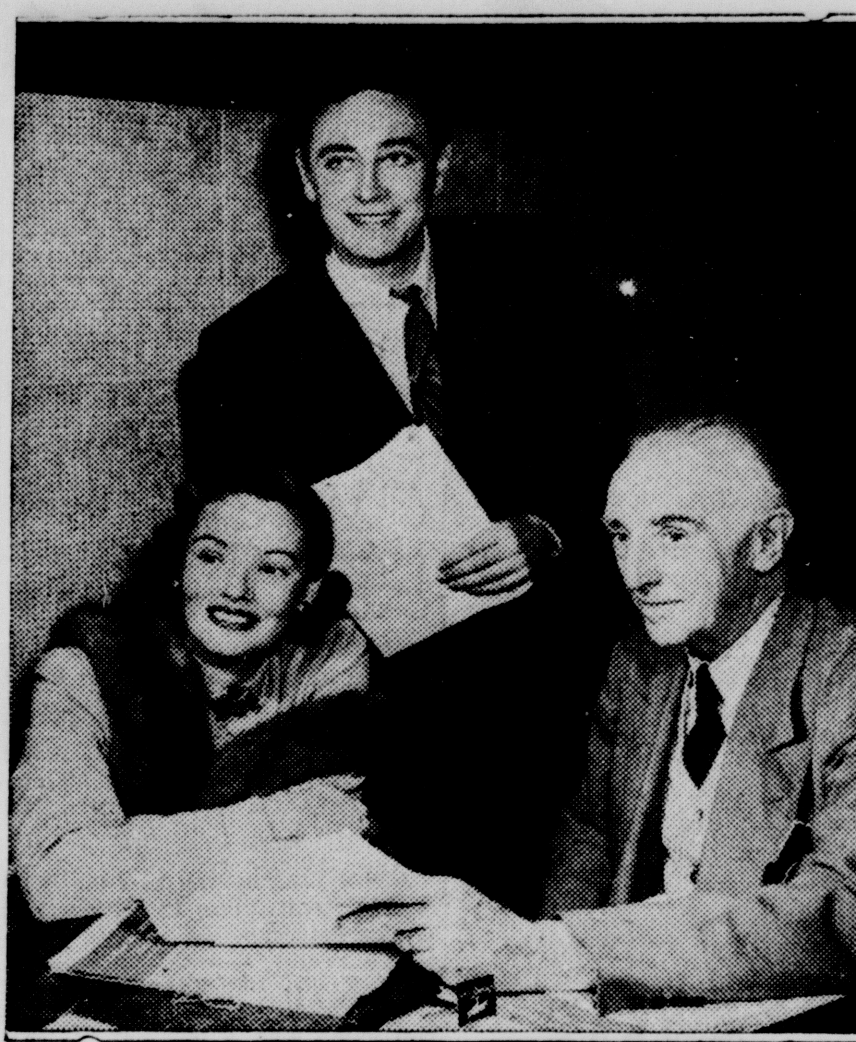

Thus, example after example piles up of the inefficiency of socialism—whether it be the mild variety that exists in England, or the tough police-state brand that exists in Eastern Europe. The poorest-paid, poorest-fed, and poorest-housed peoples live in the nations where the state has gone farthest in seizing and socializing industry, in regimenting the population, and in destroying free labor.

If we Americans can learn anything by observation, we will learn that only a free enterprise system, where private capital carries on the business and government keeps within the basic province of governing, can produce the most benefits for the most people—and keep our liberties intact at the same time.

To keep wage demands within reasonable bounds and to satisfy national labor leaders, the White House and Maurice Tobin's Labor Department have worked out a three-fold scheme: an extension of rent controls, an agreement between labor and management to stabilize wage at present levels, and standby wage and price control laws which the President can enforce if industry breaks its promise to hold the price line.

CIO President Phillip Murray's prompt visit with victorious President Truman makes it abundantly clear that U. S. labor wasted no time in rendering its bill for election services.

Fall in love with yourself and you won't have any rivals.

Miss Gene Tierney, and Richard Waring, starring in the radio production of "The Enchanted Cottage," have a final script conference with Walter Hampton, host on the program GREAT SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS, presented by the Protestant Episcopal Church over a coast to coast Mutual and independent network. The Episcopal programs go on the air each Friday evening at eight, eastern standard time, each offering a fine dramatic presentation, with an important brief message from the Church to people who have no regular Church affiliation. The program is aired over KVAL out of Amarillo at 7 o'clock, November 19.

Council of Church Women Report on Year's Work

At the last meeting of the year on November 5, the Council of Church Women made a report on the year's work.

The group sponsored story telling hours for children during the summer. They sent some 2500 pounds of clothing to the "Clothes Line Around the World" project of the National Council of Church Women, raised $82.05 for the Leper Fund and pledged $50.00 for the Migrant Fund of Texas. They also sent 51 towels to the "Pack-a-Towel" project of the National Council of Church Women.

During the year, the council held six meetings when only four are required for membership in the National and State Federation of Church Women. The average attendance for the year was 45.

The ladies of all churches who have attended these meetings have received much pleasure from their association with each other. The programs have been inspiring and interesting, and it is hoped that another year will bring more church women into this group.

Officers elected for 1949 are Mrs. Bryan McDonald, president; Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt, vice president; Mrs. Marion Higdon, secretary; Mrs. L. H. Owens, treasurer; and the area chairman are Mrs. Harvey Cash, the Church and its Outreach; Mrs. Greiner, Bible in Life; Miss Moss Richardson, Personal Faith; Mrs. C. A. Murray, Christian and Family Life; Mrs. Herschel Coffee, Major Social Problems; Mrs. H. A. Brown, Community Issues; Miss Darthula Walker, World Relations.

Miss Erdman To Be Honored Friday at University Texas

AUSTIN: The Austin alumni chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional national journalism fraternity for women, will honor distinguished Texas authors with an "Autograph Hound's party" November 19.

Miss Louisa Grace Erdman of Canyon, author of "Years of the Locust" and other works, will be one of the authors honored. She will be presented at an informal dessert party, and will autograph her books for the guests.

Other Texas authors making plans to attend are Fred Gipson of Mason, whose book, "Clipped Wings" is the January Book-of-the-Month selection; Curtis Bishop of Austin, writer of Western Tales; Mrs. Esse Forrester O'Brien of Waco, poet and author of children's books; Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum of Austin, only woman ever to be Secretary of State; Mrs. Elizabeth Fowler Draper, author of prose and poetry; Hart Stilwell, and many others.

Miss Erdman's hostesses from the chapter will be Mrs. James R. Merrill, editor of The Texas Clubwoman; Mrs. Gene Johnson, editor of The Interscholastic Leaguer, and Mrs. Annie Lee Shelton, informational writer with the University of Texas News Service.

Asked what he thought of the two candidates for the election, an enlightened voter replied: "Well, when I look at them, I'm thankful only one of them can get elected."

Our land is our living.

The CIO stands to be the most favored union in the eyes of the White House. But the AFL will probably succeed in having omitted from the new labor law any restrictions on closed shops, political printing and speeches and union contributions to campaign funds.

Erosion is our constant enemy.

Seniors Portray Dogpatchers Li'l Abner Skips Marriage Again

Li'l Abner (Gerald McDuff) again escaped marriage to Daisy Mae (Ema Gene Zachry) Friday, November 12, when Marryin' Sam (Harry Campfield) was literally knocked out by an over sized tooth pick applied by none other than Joe Btispik (Laura Davis).

To get things off to a smelly start, Barney Barnsmell (Bobby King) walked in with poor Weak-eyes Yokum (Richard Walters) right behind him. Trouble walked in along with Granpappy Scraggs (Willis Parsons), his three sons (Bryce Slack, Donald Davis, and Billy Cleavinger) and Blankety, Blank Scraggs, (Mabel Graham) his daughter from the penitentiary. Stupefyn' Jones (June Jennings) stupefied every one with her beauty and they needed it because those McSwine sisters, Sun Beam and Moon Beam (Sue and Fay Dickerson) follower right after her.

City Dudes Visit

The city dudes, Gat Garson (Weldon Hacker) and his gun totin' friend (Dorothy Butler) and Aunt Bessie Yokum (Betty Schuette) came to see the excitement and drink some Kickapoo Joy Juice furnished by Lonesome Polecat (Billy Cunningham) and Hairless Joe (Jimmy Lindsey).

The namesake of the day, Sadie Hawkins (Suzanne Stephenson) and her paw (Ervin Davis) came to try to get Sadie a man this year. Available Jones (Kenneth Fisher) came to the race to sell a few items for the men; such as, track shoes and his formula for committing suicide. Items of interest for the women were bear traps and shot guns (if you can't catch um, killum).

Tobacco Rhoda (Mary Sue Foster) came a splittin' to see if she could catch a husband this year. But she didn't.

Wolf Gal (Juanita Aveni) caused quite a commotion, especially, after she had tanked up on Kickapoo Joy Juice. Old Man Mose (Jesse Inman) and his daughter (Carol Hamblen) came creepin' in just full of prophesy for the day. Good thing his beard didn't catch on fire. The gal with the muscles, Joan L. Sullivan (Betty Erwin) could have caught just any man she wanted and did end up with a Scraggs brother. Romance is the chief occupation of Romeo McHaystack (Phillip Busted), or so it seemed by the way he was attracted to the girls.

Earthquake McGoon (Jones Hales) stumbled in and shook the ground to let people know that he had done arrived. Tenderlief Ericson (Marion McReynolds) and No Nose Nannie (Ramona Simon) had a terrible time standing up for the aftermath of Earthquake McGoon's entrance lasted quite a while.

Little Unwashable Jones (Antonio Hernandez) brought his little old dirty body for all to smell and see. The great Fearless Fosdick (Marvin Cornette) even showed up for the great event.

They tied her down in chains, gave her synide poison, and even

LET'S PULL TOGETHER

Do you want a youth center? If you do, now is the chance to get behind the idea in a big way. The only way to get one started is to let everyone know that we are capable of handling the responsibilities connected with one. Are you one of the people that say, "Sure, that's what we need, a youth center. When can we start it?" And then if you are called upon to help do a little of the work that someone has to do, to say, "Oh, I can't do that. I've got other plans." But come that opening night, you are the first one there to join in all the fun with the other kids. Let's all join together and really start a good youth center, one that we can be proud of and shall want to back.

Fat Lady Appears

No one but the Fat Lady and her twins (Mrs. A. K. Knott) would have had enough courage to precede Marryin' Sam on a good business day like this.

Daisy Mae and her granny (Annabelle McCarty) entered with her pet girl smoo (Sarah Jane Martin) to run after Li'l Abner in the race of the day.

Mammy and Pappy Yokum (Chloe Ann Black and Don Hickman) accompanied by their son Li'l Abner and his pet boy smoo (Rebecca Irvin).

The race was on, and among other items brought back was Li'l Abner by Daisy Mae. Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae were about to be hitched forever, when Joe Btispik, the bad luck man, brought sorrow to the females of Dogpatch by bopping Marryin' Sam on the head.

"This is your week gals, so get out and be sure to get your self a man," advises Fat Lady with twins, better known as Mrs. A. K. Knott.

These students were nominated by members of the SFC as was announced in assembly last week. Campaign speeches will be given in an assembly this week after campaign managers are chosen.

Some honors attained in previous years by Jimmy are Stadium King last year, vice president of the SFC last year, all-district and all-regional football player. Gerald is vice-president of the Senior class this year, was class president of his sophomore class, lettered three years in football and two years in track and was a member of the SFC last year. Juniors of Blue Team Stage Party for Contest Winners

The red team of the Junior class's magazine sales was given a party by the blue team Monday night at 7:30 in the CHS Cafeteria. The building was decorated in blue, and carried out the theme of "Football at Knoxum College." Various games pertaining to football were played. Refreshments of pumpkin pie, sandwiches, and a drink were served by the following junior room-mothers: Mesdames L. D. Winn, Ross Craig, Bradley Burrus, Charlie Erwin, Gladys Haines, James Jennings, G. M. Abbott and Buck King.

THANKS!

The seniors of CHS wish to thank the following merchants for contributing to their Bingo Booth at the Halloween Carnival.

This list was continued from last week: Canyon Drug, Canyon Jeweler, Cooper's Market, Taylor and Sons Country Store, Hickman Motor Co., Morrison's Texaco Service, Evelyn's Beauty Shop, Bill's Steak House, Cunningham's Maytag Appliance, Lindsey Motor Co., M. E. Moses, La Duchess Shoppe, Bellah Grocery, Cheatham's Furnishings, Graham Grocery, Olympic Theater, Britain's Studio, Palace Cafe, Western Auto Store, McDonald Shop, Canyon Implement Co., Warren's, City Pharmacy, Bob's Coffee Shop, Buffalo Food Stores.

It is better to be misjudged for a deed of action than for a deed of neglect.

What are the English classes in CHS studying? According to Mrs. Cecil Simms, head of the department, her five classes of English literature students are quite busy. The English IV group is studying the Puritan Period. And, according to reports they think it is quite interesting to learn that during the ten years of the Puritan's reign was the only time England hasn't had a king. The class has just finished reading "Macbeth." They read it aloud in class and then Mrs. Simms brought Judith Anderson and Maurice Evans' recordings of the tragedy for them to hear.

Her English III classes are studying drama. They are reading "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder. Humorous and serious essays are in the limelight for English I students. They are also having oral reports about some of the nation's great men.

"I am enjoying the work and the students have made discipline very easy," says Mrs. Simms.

Mrs. T. E. Beard also reports progress in her English Classes.

The English I students are about to complete "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," by Colridge.

English II classes have finished reading "Julius Caesar." Mrs. Joseph Findley loaned the class records of the play. "The class really appreciated the records and they enjoyed 'Julius Caesar' much more because of them," states Mrs. Beard.

Students Donate To Jr. Red Cross

The Junior Red Cross of CHS almost reached the quota set by the state chairman this year. The grade school was most generous with a $38.27 donation as compared with the $21.39 from the high school.

The grade school has the following report: Mrs. Joe Black's grade 1, $5.61; Mrs. T. M. Collins' grade 1, $5.00; Mrs. Stella Murrell's grade 2, $1.80; Mrs. Roscoe Davis' grade 2, $4.92; Mrs. A. K. Eagles In Soup Bowl

By Harry Campfield

Coach Billy Cleavinger's Canyon Eagles were playing the S. M. U. Ponies at the Soup Bowl in Canyon, Texas. S. M. U. teed off and So-Relle bagged the ball in right field and dribbled across the goal for a home run. The Canyonettes led by the mighty 220 pound 6'4" Jimmy Wooten struck out. Oakie Doakie Walker passed for a field goal. Then Albert Craig punted for a hole in one. Gil Johnson the triple threat man (stumble, fumble, fall) dove for the ball and came up with four aces. Walters then crapped out. The fleet footed Troy Burrus, went down the green for a touchdown. Joe Abbott vaulted over for the extra point. Wayne Prichard shot at the basket and made a spare as the game ended. The final score was 68 under par for the Eagles and love for the Ponies. Officials for the game were Mable Ann Graham and Mary Sue Foster.

Dorothy Gafford and Mrs. Lynn Scott, the former Martha Jean Aveni, were in Canyon High School Friday, to attend the Seniors Sadie Hawkins assembly program.

A woman can't keep a secret for two reasons: It is not worth keeping, or it is too good to keep.

Well, Sadie Hawkins started with a Bang, so here I am with the latest gossip I have gathered for you.

What's this I hear about Bruce Winn, Troy Burrus and Troy Thurman. They and Mr. McMahan, that is!

A cute twosome together on Wednesday night were Jo Parker and Wayne Prichard.

Janey had fun renewing an old acquaintance at the Dumas football game with a guy named Don, I think.

Mable Ann Graham must have it bad. If you happen to notice the signature on the picture she gave Jimmy Lindsey, you'll know what I mean.

A couple seen Saturday night were Marian McReynolds and Albert Craig. Wonder what Frank has to say?

One of the Sadie Hawkins daters were Donna Erwin and Bruce Winn.

Saturday night Don Hickman seemed to enjoy escorting Betty Ross Craig to her home.

Another pair that I saw Friday night were Mr. Barnett and that cute girl friend of his.

Latley seen were Kenneth Fisher and Gladys Thomas having a good time together.

On the way home from the Dumas football game bad luck (or should I say good luck) was with Jimmy Arnold, Joyce Thurman, Bob Ratliff, and Helen Wolf. What time did you get home, kids?

And speaking of wolves, that wolf is after Bob Ratliff these days. Helen Wolf, that is!

Buses Transport 288 Students

Rural busses now operate, for the first time through a central agency which operates through Canyon High School. The buses transport students to both schools. Twelve routes make up this system from which 288 pupils come to this school.

T. B. Coombes drives the Stone bus over the longest route to and from school each day. The buses arrive at school each morning at about 8:30 and leave at about 3:50 in the afternoon.

The bus drivers are: Lyndon Sanders; N. J. Pope; B. G. Dugan; Mable Graham; T. B. Coombes; W. J. Phelps; B. J. Whitfield; J. T. Goodnight; C. H. Damron; Claude Foster; J. W. Bragg, and John Damron.

High Soaring Eagles Override Demons In Conference Tilt

B Gridsters Rip Future Demons

Bulling their way up and down the field, the Eagles "B" squad outplayed and outscored the Dumas Demons "B" team. Dumas reached pay dirt first, but just couldn't keep in tune with the Eagles after that. Canyon's first touchdown came when Robert Busted slung a 20-yard pass to Hacker. On the next play Harrell Slack threw a touchdown pass with Hacker again on the receiving end. Slack ran over for the extra point. Canyon's next touchdown came when Busted ran over from the 37. Harrell Slack set up the last tally by hawking the ball from the 40 to the 5 in three plays. Prater then carried over. Payne caught a pass from Busted for the extra point. The game ended with the Eagles out in front 20-7. Next Thursday evening the Eagles play Dalhart's "B" squad at Buffalo Stadium.

New Books Reach Canyon Hi Library

One hundred and eleven new books were received at the library last week and are ready to be checked out to CHS students.

In the group, some of the historical ones are: "Ben Hur" by Lew Wallace, "The Manly Man" and "The Black Rose" by Thomas Costain.

Also there are biographies. Some of them are: "Theodore Roosevelt" by Harlow, "Buffalo Bill" by Stevenson, and "Clara Barton" by Nolan.

Nature stories are among the number. On the list is found: "Hunting of the Silver Pleece" and "Indians of the United States" by Martin, "Cowdog" by Andrews, and "Tarnish" by Johnson.

In the adventure group is listed "Emergency Run" by Hungerford, "On Board a U. S. Submarine" by Theiss, and "Galewood Crossing" by Seymore.

Some fiction stories are "Rosemary" by Lawrence, "Shadow on the Rocks" by Cather, and "Fair Adventure" by Gray.

"All students no doubt will take advantage of the unusual selection of books offered at the school library," says Mrs. Kuehn, librarian.

Grade Notes

Mrs. J. D. Barker visited in Mrs. Collins' first grade last week.

James Razor of Mrs. Black's first grade was given a surprise birthday party last Tuesday. Ice cream and cake were served. Pollyanna Cummins entered the first grade from Tulia, Texas.

Mrs. E. L. Crammer entertained Mrs. Roscoe Davis' second grade with a birthday party for her son, Edgar. Cakes, cookies and lollypops were served.

Mrs. Neblett, Mrs. Waters, and Mrs. Metcalf visited in Mrs. Brasher's fourth grade last week. The children have started a unit study of Greenland. Several children were absent last week due to illness.

Jerry New was honored by a birthday party given by his mother, Mrs. New, Monday afternoon in Mrs. Walsh's fifth grade. Refreshments of cake and cheerios were served.

Anna Marie Barker of Mrs. Jones' fifth grade spent the week end in Canadian. Florence Hacker visited in Quahan.

Wilma Arnold withdrew from Mrs. Iverson's sixth grade to move to Spearman. xz

CAN YOU IMAGINE?

Dorothy Butler sinking 18 out of 15 goals?

Lorayne Carter with a Rita before it?

CHS with a juke box in the hall? Willis Parsons being 6' 4"?

Robert O'Donald without Anita Ruthardt?

Any senior acting dignified? Mrs. Beard roller skating down the halls?

Bryce Slack twitterpated? (or is he?)

Everyone chewing bubble gum in Mrs. Simms' English class?

Richard "Lovellace" Walters buying a dress pattern?

Harry Campfield being last in the lunch line?

The Red Cross quota for this year is $60. The grade school has always passed it quota by contributing more than half of the sum.

Most of the serious slips occur after the cup has been to the lip.

Classes Achieve Various Ratings

Typing classes of Canyon High School with Ray Schultz as instructor have a roll of forty-one students this year. The group is divided into four sections; three first year and one second year class.

The average speed of the second year students is 50 words per minute. Two first year students type with the speed required for the second year students; they are Donna Erwin, typing seventy words per minute, and Janey Forester, typing sixty-five words per minute.

The student most accurate is Bobby Jean Ford who can type for four or five minutes without making a mistake.

Mr. Schultz thinks that with such good material he may send several students to the typing contest this year.

The bookkeeping class, consists of eight girls and two boys, which Mr. Schultz teaches, also. The students of that class have trouble in adding long columns of figures, but use of the adding machine from the office has remedied that trouble.

Junior Class Picks Three-Act Comedy

Mr. T. L. Devin, junior sponsor announces that copies of "The Humdinger," the junior play, will arrive this week. Characters for the parts will be selected within two or three days after the play books arrive by members of the faculty. Practice will probably begin sometime next week.

The purpose of these plays is to give students stage experience and to furnish the necessary funds for the annual junior-senior banquet.

"Juniors always look forward to this highlight in their careers," states Mr. Devin, "and they devote themselves most whole-heartedly to this work. Their enthusiasm is inspiring."

One Year Ago

The junior class began practice for their play, "A Case of Springtime," which was presented December 9.

Anna Bird Stewart, the famous author and lecturer, was a guest in the Canyon High and Grade schools.

Rules appeared in the paper concerning Sadie Hawkins Week. And you'd better start getting ready, boys. It's not far off now, you know.

The freshmen boys won the Canyon High School Intramural Football crown.

Our Eagles were preparing to meet the Dimmitt Bobcats in our last conference game of the season.

And, oh, yes, Cal was pretty interesting. Bruce Winn was going with that cute little blond, Betty Miller. Faye Dickerson attended a Saturday night football game with Donnell Ruthhart, and Sue Jennings was going with Charles Mobley. How's that for you?

Juanita Aveni, the 1947-'48 Football Queen, was crowned preceding the Canyon-Springlake game.

And just think, all this happened only one year ago. Remember?

I am happy to report that some of the railroads—not all of them, but some of them—are still pursuing a "public-bedaemed" policy. That makes our business good—James Nicholas, executive secretary, Indiana Trucking Association.

The Berlin crisis is a mess. We ought to tell them if they don't loosen that blockade, we'll loosen them up.—Gen. Jonathan Wainwright (retired).

Gridsters Meet Dalhart Wolves

Forward Wall Accounts For Aerial Connections

With a victory under their belt from last week's game the Canyon Eagles work out for their last game of the season. They journey to Dalhart Friday to clash sharply at 2:00 o'clock.

The spirited Eagles took to the air Friday night and chalked up a victory from the Dumas Demons. A 30 yard pass in the final period from Joe Abbott to Richard Walters set up the lone tally of the game with Walters carrying to the 11-yard line where he was downed by fleet-footed Roots. Canyon plunged four times to gain a first down and the next play Joe Abbott plowed through center for pay dirt. Abbott tried to skirt his own right end for the extra point but the attempt failed.

First Three Quarters Scoreless

The first three quarters was a struggle between two desperate teams each trying hard for a marker. In the last portion of the second period Dumas worked the ball to the 15 yard line to set themselves up a penetration and a chance to score. Their threat ended when Richmond Payne intercepted a pass. The half ended shortly after.

Wayne Prichard ran 60 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, but it was called back because he had stepped out of bounds on the 50-yard line. The final period was climaxed with the run of Walters and the victorious plumb of Abbott. Canyon's line was playing heads-up ball all during the game, thus allowing their backfield time to get off the long pass that set them up for a victory of 6-0.

Canyon had two penetrations to Dumas' one; Canyon made 6 first downs with 8 for Dumas and Canyon gained 82 yards rushing, Dumas picked up 164 yards. In the air the Eagles gained 80 yards and the Demons advanced 40 yards.

Math Course Is Required Subject

Every student is required to take three years of math in Canyon High School. They have a choice of four: general math, Algebra I, Plane Geometry, or Algebra II.

There are seven classes taught daily by Mrs. Kott, Mr. Jacobs and Mr. Barnett.

If a student plans to attend college, to take up engineering, he should study all four maths because, there, he will be forced to make up all needed work at his own expense.

General math and plane geometry rank first as the students' favorite among the courses.

"As a rule our classes are not crowded this year, and students are giving more serious study to their courses and are showing marked improvement," says J. E. Miller, principal.

I see good in these repeated forecasts of a business recession. They have encouraged caution, orderly marketing, and dampened speculative excesses.—Dr. J. Marvin Peterson, research director, Minneapolis Reserve Bank.

Erwin-Anderson Rites Read In Home Ceremony

In a beautiful home ceremony on Saturday evening, November 13, Martha Price Erwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Price, became the bride of Sherman Leroy Anderson of Wichita Falls. Scene of the wedding was the home of the bride's parents.

Vows were spoken before an arch entwined with greenery and orchid and white mums, flanked on either side by candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Joan Bullard who was attired in a black faille dress. Candles were lighted by Merle Bullard and Wayne Price, brother of the bride, and best man was Johnny Hogan.

For her wedding the bride chose a dress of blue crepe accented by three strands of pearls. For something old, borrowed and blue, she carried a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. B. B. Bullard, atop a white Bible. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A reception followed the wedding, and Joan Bullard presided at the punch bowl and the two-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. B. B. Bullard. Mrs. Shirley Rickertson registered the guests.

The couple will be at home in Amarillo where Mr. Anderson is employed in the shoe department at Levine's.

Members will exchange gifts.

The President will fulfill his pledge to labor by asking for an outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Most likely outcome, however, will be a revision and renaming of the act and other existing labor legislation with these early results: a fourth-round wage increase, ranging between 7 and 10%, and a hike in minimum wages from 40c an hour to 75c an hour.

Rheumatic Hearts Cause of Many Deaths; Cripples

Rheumatic heart disease, a crippling and killer of children, is one of the leading causes of death and disability among children and young adults in the age group of 10 to 25 years.

No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough has as yet been developed for its prevention and control, but we do know some of the danger signals and with a physician's early diagnosis, some of the damaging results of this disease may be prevented.

Quoting Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, "in general, the early symptoms of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain is felt usually in one of these joints and spreads to the others. Often a child gets irritable and cross without any apparent cause; he may cry easily and develop habits indicating nervousness. These symptoms may mean the beginning of an attack of rheumatic fever, and a physician should be consulted immediately."

Predisposing causes of this disease, which includes frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, poor diet, colds, an attack of scarlet fever or other infections caused by certain streptococcus germs, should be carefully avoided.

Protection against these predisposing causes may mean protection against rheumatic heart disease, and these safeguards should be observed. Have children examined at least once a year; see that they have a well balanced and nourishing diet; make certain that they get sufficient rest, and see to it that they are dressed according to the temperature of the room or the playground. Consult a physician at once if symptoms indicate that this disease may be present, and if the doctor prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be followed exactly as given.

R. M. Wynne Died
As Result of Car-

R. M. Wynne, deputy game commissioner, died at an Amarillo hospital where he was taken following a car-pick-up accident three weeks ago on the highway north of Canyon.

Wynne and family had lived in Canyon only a short time. He was on his way home about midnight when his pick-up collided head-on with an Amarillo car. A witness to the accident believed that the steering mechanism on Wynne's pick-up was defective and threw the two machines into a head-on collision.

White House aides now predict that Truman will make one more effort to effect peace with Stalin, probably shortly after the President's return from Key West, Fla. If the peace overtures fail, as top Administration experts predict, Truman will revise his present military budget, probably upping the proposed appropriation of $144 billion to a figure close to $20 billion.

Talk of a third party headed by labor leaders is nearly dead. CIO President Murray, AFL President William Green and Auto Workers President Walter Reuther are happily satisfied with their demonstration of power in helping defeat the 80th Congress. The Progressive Party's disappointing showing also convinced the leaders that operating through any splinter party promises only a dim future.

SHORT STORY

Nancy, Don't Fret

By ELLIS K. BALDWIN

I HAD just put little Caroline to bed, hoping she'd sleep through until morning when shuffling down the sidewalk came Gus Olsen. I saw him before my young doctor-husband did. Gus was the first half of a patent medicine testimonial before the great transformation. His face resembled a cathedral gargyle. His stomach ailment was known all over town, still he swore he would never go to a doctor. "Not one of them would be able to help me," he boasted.

When Gus retired from the railroad he took up his post on his porch, hailing every passerby to discuss his symptoms.

Panicky, I realized if Charlie should prescribe something that didn't cure, Gus with his porch lectures would spoil the doctor's chances for building a practice.

"Charlie," I said breathlessly "I'll tell him you have an emergency. Go out and hitch up Dinah." I'd stopped counting the times Charlie harnessed the horse to roll out of the yard like he was headed for a fire. "It's exciting for the neighborhood kids," Charlie would chuckle. It didn't mean a thing. The doctor was just putting on an act. Half an hour later you'd hear the crunch of the wheels on the driveway.

Charlie was saying, "I'm fed up with whirling dervish rides. Besides, the neighbors are starting to wonder where I go."

GUS was walking slowly, hunched over, hand on his stomach. I found myself clinging to Charlie's hand like a drowning woman.

"Let go of me, darling," the doctor said almost angrily. "I must greet our new patient."

I whispered desperately. "Darling, you just can't face this old gossip."

Suddenly the doctor was calling out, "Good evening, Mr. Olsen. Won't you come in?"

It took Gus a long time to tell his story. I heard the doctor clear his throat a number of times while he let Gus recite his history. Then Charlie began using those long technical terms he'd been boning up on these nights when he held office hours and no one came in. "All of a sudden, I heard Gus shout angrily, "Listen here, Doc, you can't tell me that." Goose pimples popped out on my arms. Charlie couldn't afford to get Gus down on him.

Then Charlie's voice droned on seemingly unperturbed by Gus' shouting. From where I sat I couldn't make out what he was saying. It seemed hours before the office door swung open.

"You're kind of young," Gus was

"You've got me flabbergasted," Gus said.

to have helped me. Figured you telling the doctor. "Nothing seems couldn't put me through any more agony but what you've just said has got me flabbergasted."

Gus moved off into the night. The doctor didn't say anything. I stood it as long as I could. "Charlie, what did you give him?"

"It's a tough case," the doctor grunted, employing the deep bass notes he was learning to use.

"Absolutely nothing. If you must know, I told him he was a hypochondriac. Told him there was absolutely nothing wrong with him but if he didn't stop glutting himself with all these patent medicines he shortly would turn into a medicine bottle."

BUT all that was years ago. Now the impatient honking of a motor horn brought me tobogganing back down the years. Out at the curb was Caroline, a grown woman now, ready to drive her father down to his office in the medical building. The office would be jammed because Gus Olsen, rocking steadily on his porch during the years, repeated proudly again and again to his passing friends, "I'm a hypochondriac, yes sir, a hypochondriac."

Invariably he'd add, "If you got any bad symptoms and you want to know quickly what they are, there's a young doctor down the street..."

Oil Industry Has Made Notable Aid Human Race

A short time ago, in connection with Oil Progress Day, the presidents of three Rhode Island colleges issued statements on the oil industry.

Fr. Robert J. Slavin, president of Providence College, said, "What oil means to the community, to the state and to the nation cannot be minimized. . . . Indeed, the entire world depends in a great measure upon petroleum and everything possible should be done to further the interests of this industry, which works for the welfare of the people."

Henry W. Wriston, president of Brown University, said, "The health of both the individual and the nation is dependent upon further progress in the oil industry. We congratulate the industry upon its achievements of the past and its promise for the future."

Carl Woodward, president of Rhode Island State College, said that the oil industry "has shown a rare capacity to adjust its operations to meet the demands of the moment. . . . We have a sense of indebtedness to the petroleum industry."

Praise such as this, from informed educational leaders, is not gained by chance. It must be earned through performance—and that is exactly what oil has done. The magnificent war record of the American oil industry is too well known to need description. It has been called upon to meet a postwar demand far greater than anyone could have anticipated. It is now developing oil resources in almost every far-flung corner of the world. It is a powerful force for human betterment.

ERE'S 'ERBERT

What does Mr. Herbert Evatt find, on lonely nights, to grieve at? Does he curse his mother dear For having named him "Herbert Vere"?

Sits he weeping on the curb Just because she called him "Herb"? Was she laughing up her sleeve at Herbert? Naughty Mrs. Evatt!

(After all this labored levity, I learn they call him Evatt.)

The U. S. has atomic bombs probably ten times as powerful as those dropped on Japan. In fact, those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki were elemental models. Almost certain for a Cabinet job is Truman's close friend, Mon C. Wallgren, defeated gubernatorial candidate in Washington. Wallgren, who flew into Washington to confer with Truman last Saturday, is an odds-on choice to succeed Sawyer in Commerce.

Soft-Hearted Bartender Sponsors Children's Hour

HOBOKEN, N. J.—Now it's a saloon with a children's hour. The place is run by one Parky Radigan, who has a soft spot in his heart for the neighboring kids. He hates to see those children's television programs going to waste in his place.

"These kids," he says, "don't get to see television. They're too young to drink."

The idea occurred to him when he turned the lights up one day after a baseball television broadcast. The dark corners were filled with youngsters, who had sneaked in to watch. So Parky perused the television schedules and picked out some children's shows.

The customers may have been startled at first but they made no protest when—as the children's program started—Parky closed the bar and called in the kids playing in the street out front.

The kids loved it. For the older boys, Parky plans an afternoon a week of baseball. Dry, of course.

Rugged Jeep's Best Selling Point Today Is—Comfort

TOLEDO, O. — The jeep, that great taskmaster of the last war, has gone "soft."

Once reputed to be the world's roughest riding vehicle, the jeep has caught on with America's farmers largely because they say it is the most comfortable vehicle in which to do farm chores.

Willis Overland motors analysts report that more than 50,000 of the sturdy little cars have wound up on farms since V-J day. Oddly enough, the farmers say the jeep's outstanding characteristic is—comfort.

Some farmers even have installed radios. Then mom and the kids ride along while pop does what used to be lonely field chores.

Actress Stabs Self in Trying To Avoid Traffic Ticket

HOLLYWOOD.—Evelyn Bertucci, 26, an actress, stabbed herself in an effort to avoid getting a traffic ticket.

"If you give me a ticket, I'll kill myself," she warned F. R. Couch, motorcycle officer, who signaled her to the curb after she allegedly drove through a red signal.

Couch opened his book of tickets. Mrs. Bertucci, known in the movies as Evelyn Smith, pulled out a seven-inch-long Chinese ceremonial knife from the glove compartment and plunged the blade into her hip.

She was treated at Hollywood Receiving hospital, then taken home.

Vice President-elect Alben Barkley's chief role will be that of peace-maker in the Senate. He has already advised Truman not to be vindictive toward the rebellious southern Senators who supported Dixiecrats, and will use his personal popularity to forestall any bi-partisan bloc of southern and Republican conservatives which could stymie the President's pet projects.

SHORT STORY

The Rebel Leaves at One

By MARION WALLS

"IT ISN'T that I don't love you, Stan! I want to do something else before I settle down to marriage—I want to learn how to design, I—oh, what's the use! You won't understand it."

Reaching up, Stan broke off a twig from the chinaberry tree. "No, I guess I can't," he admitted. "I guess I belong to the old-fashioned school which thinks marriage means everything to a girl."

The girl touched his arm. "I do love you, Stan; and I want to marry you. But not now, I want to amount to something first, be somebody."

Unexpectedly, she laid a swift kiss upon his cheek. "Run along back to your farm, dear," she advised. "The Rebel leaves at one in the morning and I must finish packing. But I'll be looking for you tonight."

Anita raced up the steps to her room on the second floor of Mrs. Petrilla's boarding house. It was several hours later that Mrs. Petrilla called: "Miss Davilenol!

Telephone! And hurry, please."

Fuming, Anita disconnected the iron. She had no time for idle conversations this day. "Hello—Stan!" Her breath quickened.

"Anita, can you help me out for a little while? Katja's boy, Ben, cut himself with an axe and Joe had to take him to the hospital. Mom's still in bed, and that leaves me in a jam—Katja's baby is here to tend to. Jim Haggarty said he could bring you out."

Anita's response was immediate. "Sure, I'll come. Tell Jim I'll be ready in 15 minutes."

Anita was relieved when Jim's truck turned into the Dusak's drive. Stan was sitting on the porch holding the baby.

With a relieved smile, he laid the child in Anita's arms. "He's teething, the little rascal won't let you put him down."

"Run along," she encouraged. "I'll put the baby to sleep."

Going into the house, Anita put the child to bed and went in to see about Stan's mother. She was sleeping, sunshine spraying across the quilt. Drawing the shades, Anita went out noiselessly.

Anita wandered back into the big room. On the wall hung an oil painting; bold splashes of color about a mill and a rushing brook. Puzzled, Anita was still staring when she heard quick steps upon the porch.

She was in his arms now.

that scene. Where did you get that picture?"

The older woman's eyes went briefly to the wall. "Oh, that's the old mill down near Stonewall. I painted it one summer. Let's have a bit of tea—I need a pick-up."

In amazement, Anita said: "You painted this! Why, Katja, it's beautiful." Following the other woman into the kitchen, she probed: "Katja, it's a shame you didn't try to develop your talent. You might have created something beautiful for all the world to see!"

Katja was thoughtful. "I'll admit that in the beginning, I did wonder... but after Joe and I were married... no, Anita, I'm never sorry any more."

Stan came tramping up the steps. "Say, I'm no tea drinker," he called, "but you can pour me a cup now."

Leaning against the cupboard, he said to Anita: "I can run you back to town now that Katja has come."

"There's no hurry," she said, not looking at him.

"But your packing—and the Rebel leaves at one," he reminded her.

She smiled. "Maybe some rebels just start to leave, Stan, and don't ever really go."

She was in his arms now. Katja had left them but it was to Katja she was really speaking when she whispered, her mouth against his, "I'll never be sorry any more."

The Real Issue at Paris

A retired industrial tycoon, talking to his listless grandson, said: "Why don't you go out and look for a job? Why, when I was your age, I was working for $3 a week. At the end of five years, I owned the store."

"You can't do that now," was the lackadaisical reply. "They have cash registers."—Olga J. Fert in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

James Forrestal and his secretaries of War, Navy and Air in the Military Establishment are to be required by the White House to keep their budget plans within an overall total of $14,400,000,000 for the year that begins next July 1. Any lend-lease for Europe is to be in addition to that amount.

Too many people keep their manners fresh instead of their minds.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

"Union gives Strength"

TO PROVE THAT THERE IS STRENGTH IN UNITY, A MAN GAVE HIS QUARRELLING SONS A BUNDLE OF STICKS, INVITING THEM TO BREAK IT... WHEN THEY FAILED, HE SEPARATED THE BUNDLE. EACH SON THEN EASILY BROKE THE SINGLE STICKS.

—FROM AESOP'S FABLES

HERE IN AMERICA, WE HAVE MANY EXAMPLES OF STRENGTH IN UNITY...WE SEE THIS PRINCIPLE AT WORK IN LIFE INSURANCE, WHERE MANY—WORKING TOGETHER—POOL THEIR RESOURCES AND SHARE THEIR RISKS SO THAT ALL CAN ENJOY FAMILY PROTECTION AND SECURITY...LIKEWISE, WE ALL WORK FOR THE COMMON GOOD, THROUGH OUR COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS AND SERVICE CLUBS...POLITICALLY, WE ACHIEVE STRENGTH BY FORGETTING OUR PRE-ELECTION DIFFERENCES AND WORKING TOGETHER IN A UNITED EFFORT TO ACHIEVE THE HIGH GOALS OF OUR NATION.

Health Under the Government Plan Proves Expensive

According to Dr. Marjorie Shearson, who was formerly health consultant of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, the cost to the taxpayers for compulsory government health insurance would, in time, reach $15,000,000,000 a year and perhaps more. By 1960, she claims, the currently proposed plan would require an average of $100 on every individual in the United States—and would cost four times as much as we spent on all Federal services in 1929.

Theoretically, the plan would be financed through a payroll tax of relatively moderate size. But every thorough study that has been made indicates that this tax would be woefully inadequate. As a result, part and perhaps most of the bill would have to be paid from general revenues—which simply means that income taxes and all other taxes would keep on going up.

So much for the financial argument. One of the best reasons for opposing compulsory health insurance is the remarkable progress made by the voluntary pre-payment plans. Tens of millions of people have joined, and the cost is low. The scope and efficiency of service has been broadened. As time goes on, one or more of these plans will be available to practically everyone in the country. And that will be done without creating another huge and wasteful political bureau—and without giving the politicians the whip hand over medical practice in this country.

"A phenomenon of postwar operations, common to every industry, is that without having had any serious voice in the matter, industry's energies have been progressively diverted from its central purpose of making things people want to buy. Industry has been used to produce the financing of 'free' services rendered by governmental agencies. The impact of taxes has grown great enough to force its way directly into virtually every business decision."—K. T. Keller, President, Chrysler Corporation.

JUST IN CASE

The old lady passing the insane asylum stopped an approaching inmate and said: "Can you tell me the time?"

The cloistered brother took out a foot rule, then got out a slide rule, and a compass and a T-square. After fiddling with them for about five minutes, he said, "It's just four o'clock."

"Wonderful," says the nice old lady, "but what do you do if it's raining and you can't measure the shadow?"

"Oh," shrugged the inmate, "in that case, I have to look at my watch."

ANCIENT ADVICE

"Mama, how can a young woman keep her youth?"

"Don't introduce him to other girls."

Soil fertility losses yearly by erosion are 21 times greater than that required to produce a crop of corn.

ONE RAIN

DOES NOT MAKE A WHEAT CROP

But that one rain received this week is a start in the right direction toward a good crop in 1949.

The next best step is to be prepared to take care of that 1949 wheat crop by being ready to handle the crop with adequate INTERNATIONAL Farm Equipment.

The outlook for new machinery is not good, as we have told you many times this year.

The next best thing is to get all of your farm equipment up in good condition so that the old machinery will be ready to do full work during 1949.

You are urged to have your farm equipment thoroughly overhauled in our shop, by men who know their job. We have the time now. In 1949 we may not have the time.
